Abstract

Ethics teach us how to regard other people's interest and other people's will. An understanding of ethics will be a positive controller for us. We will be respected and admired by other people if we always hold on the ethics in our life. Ethics principles give us a positive provision of life. Understanding about ethics makes us more comfortable and people will adapt in any condition easily includes in modern association. The bases of ethics implementation are custom and tradition from the certain region or country. But ethics will always be along with the changes of time and age.
